The Regional Economic Partnership [REP] was established to drive the strategic direction of economic development in the South of Scotland. It is one of a number of REPs established across Scotland following the Scottish Government's review of the enterprise and skills system.¹

It has a wide membership and is co-chaired by Dumfries and Galloway and Scottish Borders Councils. It comprises of local public sector partners including SOSE, representatives of the business community, social enterprises, the third sector, communities, and registered social landlords.

The South of Scotland Regional Economic Partnership's primary purpose is to secure and enable sustainable, inclusive and sustainable economic growth across the South of Scotland.

It does this by:

- setting the strategic direction for the regional economy in the South of Scotland by developing the 10 year economic strategy for the region and accompanying 3 year delivery plan which were published in 2021
- addressing the strategic economic issues facing the South of Scotland through effective partnership work
- ensuring that, collectively, partner capacities and resources are harnessed to maximum effect
- bringing together stakeholders from across the area under a common purpose to drive inclusive and sustainable economic growth in the South of Scotland
- identifying barriers to inclusive and sustainable economic growth, particularly those that are specific to the South of Scotland.

The REP will ensure the actions outlined in the Delivery Plan are taken forward, helping to realise our vision to create a "Green, Fair and Flourishing" South of Scotland. Some of the key actions over the next two years include:

- developing a Regional Land Use Partnership and associated Framework
- progressing a responsible tourism destination development and marketing strategy for the South of Scotland
- developing an up-to-date approach to community capacity and capability building
- removing barriers to make it easier for priority groups to access work and training.

South of Scotland Regional Economic Partnership and the Convention of the South of Scotland

The work to drive inclusive growth in the South of Scotland is complemented by another body: the Convention of the South of Scotland (COSS). The Convention brings together public sector partners from the South and Scottish Government ministers twice a year. This forum helps to ensure that all partners are working together and delivering effectively. The Convention oversees regional economic performance, considers emerging challenges, and aligns partners around new action to address these matters.

The REP inputs to the Convention, providing update reports highlighting issues important to the South. The report outlines the work done to deliver the Regional Economic Strategy and will allow the opportunity to raise issues which have been identified as limiting the delivery of the strategy. These issues can then be discussed by the Convention, with the possibility of intervention by Scottish Government or its public bodies.

The REP also takes account of the relationship between the South of Scotland Regional Economic Strategy and the other economic arrangements within the region, such as the Borderlands Inclusive Growth Deal and Edinburgh and South East Scotland City Region Deal, which are both delivering other important economic development projects in the South of Scotland. These deals have developed their own governance structures, which relate directly to these projects. The REP will not be dealing directly with these matters.

The REP is looking to recruit eight members from a range of different backgrounds.

It is important that the REP has people with a variety of skills and experiences, enabling the REP to effectively consider the needs of the different facets of the economy. All board members require some general awareness, skills and personal qualities that enable them to make a full contribution to the work of the REP. These skills may have been gained through various routes, such as involvement in business and social enterprise, volunteering, life experience, and working with communities.

The REP is looking to recruit:

- four people from the private sector
- two people from Social Enterprise
- two people from Community Development.

As part of the recruitment process, a geographical and a gender balance will be applied. It is intended that half of the appointed members are drawn from Dumfries and Galloway and half are drawn from the Scottish Borders.
